Hit It Hard.

It's going to be a splendid spring for seeding to clover and alfalfa. Hit it hard. Put in every pound of extra quality grass seed that you can. High class clover, adapted to this climate, put in on a seed bed that has been rolled and dragged over and over, and inoculated with culture from our Agricultural College, is almost certain to give pleasing results.

Thursday and Friday nights, proved a very pleasing entertainment. It was well attended each evening and the financial receipts produced a good fund that will be used in the purchase a bushel of seed. A bushel of alfalfa or clover is 60 pounds. Put 10 pounds on an acre and a hushel covers 6 acres. Thus, the cost is distributed over 6 acres, making cost of one acre one-sixth of 25 cents, or 41-6 cents. Thousands of farmers report that i I sent every farmer in the county bulletin explaining inoculation.

If you have not a roller, make a float or planker, out of five 2 by 8 or 2 by 10 plank, six feet long, and laid on each other like clapbourds. Standon it and ride. Cover a lot of ground in a day, just as good as with a roller.

Rolling is all right, fine, splendid, but should be followed by spike tooth drag. The last tool marks on a field should be at right angles to the prevailing winds. Doing this greatly decreases evaporation of the water s precious to grow crops with.

He did not examine the maple trees on the outskirts of the school grounds; but, did examine those maples from Victor Salling's residence to Olson's Drug Store corner, and found a large portion of them affected with oyster shell scale, and the health and life of some threatened. Spray.

All fruit trees that we examined were found to be affected with oyster shell scale. Probably there are other trees in town similarly affected.

The only remedy is to spray.

How to Know.

How to Know.

A fruit tree is valuable for what it cost, labor expended on it, room it has taken, and on account of its possibilities of producing pleasing and healthful fruit in the future.

Why let such a tree perish through neglect? Spray.

When a navigator does not know where he is at he looks at his charts. So, we can look at the spray chart posted in the window of A. M. Lewis' drug store and easily determine what to use. I have 250 such charts to give away.

Mr. Lewis, after proper investigation, has, with praiseworthy zeal.

Mr. Lewis, after proper investiga-tion, has, with praiseworthy zeal, purchased an adequate supply of, spray material required in the chart.

The spraying season is here, right now. One spraying is not enough. Scan—the chart. Get the dope. Squirt it on. Repeat as directed by chart.

We didn't use to have to spray; but, "Them Days Is Gone Forever."

Lawns.
There are some nice lawns in Grayling. There ought to be more; and, in the country too.

If some can make them, others can, and feel a thrill of satisfaction in the wictory over dreamy sand.

Mr. M. A. Bates, when asked how he did it at the school house, laconically stated; "Black earth, two inches. Well rotted stable manure, samo, forked together. White Dutch clover (Trifolium repens). Lots of water;

Why Castoria?

YEARS ago Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups were the remedies in common use for Infants and Children; Castor Oil so nauseating as to be almost impossible and the others all containing Opium in one form or another, but so disguised as to make them pleasant to the taste, yet really to stupify the child and give the appearance of relief from pain.

It required years of research to find a purely vegetable combination that would take the place of these disagreeable, unpleasant and vicious remedies that from habit had become almost universal. This was the inception of, and the reason for, the introduction of Fletcher's Castoria, and for over 30 years it has proven its worth, received the praise of Physicians everywhere and become a household word among mothers.

A remedy ESPECIALLY prepared for Infants and Children and no mother would think of giving to her baby a remedy that she would use for herself, without consulting a physician.

THE GOLDEN-EGG GOOSE.

Dear Editor and Citizens: In last week's issue of the Avalanche, I read an item about the trout season opening this week and advising the people not to kill the goose that lays the golden eggs, "meaning the outside fisherman."

Of course this is correct in its way, but why take such care of the goose and not the gander, "meaning the farmers?"

We wish to state if your supervisor, and road commissioner would take a drive over the road to Maple Forest, by way of Kneelands, they would find out, that the goose that supplies Grayling with products will soon be killed using said road.

By traveling the Kneelands road, the Maple Forest farmers, can shorten the round trip about 12 miles, but the same old wheel tracks, made 40 years ago still exist. It is just dodging from stumps and mud holes. As this road is partly in fertile and heavy land, there are places where the water holes stand nearly all sum-

THE annuls of crime disclose a surprisingly large percentage of cases in which the criminal, have ing spont months or even years in pullding up the superstructure of his scheme, makes a fatal blunder in connection with some apparently unimportant detail—a blunder which wrecks his entire plan and brings his operations to the attention of the authorities,

For example, the chances were more han a thousand to one that William Brockway, counterfeiter, being destrous of securing a proof which he was, working, would select a printer who was not a personal friend of a prominent detective. But chance, which so often plays a leading role even in true detective stories, directed him to a man who knew A. L. Drummond, of the United States Secret Service, well enough to call him by his first name.

"This man came into my place yesterday afternoon," reported the printer, "and wanted some proofs pulled of a plate which he had with him. I took one look at the plate and told him to come back today-said my machinery was out of order. He didn't leave the plate, but he didn't have to. I saw what it was-the figure $1,000. surrounded by a lot of scroll work, "If he returns today," a directed Drummond, "pull his proofs for him and hold one of them for me. A couple your customer." The plan worked according to and, shortly after receiving schedule a proof of the mysterious plate Drummond got word from his operatives that they had trailed the suspect to n house on Greenwich street. In addition, one of the government agents had recognized him as William F. Brockway known to be the most ex-pert counterfeiter in the country and the man who had achieved fame by manufacturing $100,000 worth of bonds which the Treasury department had accepted as genuine-only to reverse its opinion some weeks later. Drummond accordingly made a report of the entire matter to Washington, and forwarded a proof of the plate which Brockway had in his possession. To his amazement, the treasury officials stated that the figures and the scroll did not form a part of any government currency or bond issue and that, as federal funds rould not be used except in the scarch cent bonds, Drummond could not be perulfied to handle the case. Accordingly, all the data was tur 1 al vay dropped out of sight for nearly a year, until a rumor was passed along from Washington that the master counterfelter was working on some coup which would be the hig-

As a last resort Drummond enlisted refrices of his son, a boy of ten, whom he sent to the elevated station at Twenty-eighth and Sixth avenue, with instruction to play around there until he received a signal from two of the operatives. Brockway, not dreaming that the secret service had begun to use children as detectives was unsuspicious and the boy followed him until he entered the St. James hotel at the corner of Twenty-sixth as trall_already blazed, it was easy to pick up the rest, and within days Drummond was notified that the counterfelter divided his time between the St. James and a house on Lexington avenue. His associates were two men of about his own age, men whom Drummond recognized as Lewis Martin and Nathan Foster, both of them proficient in all branches of the work connected with the manufacture and passing of counterfelt money. But even then Chief Brookes of the mond to handle the case officially, because all the indications pointed to a plot to counterfelt railroad bonds, rather than United States aureness It was only when Inspector Byrnes of the New York police force, asked private agent that Washington peratted him to continue with the case.

Using the proof of the "$1,000 scroll" as a foundation, Drummond searched through all the prominent bond issues listed on Wall street, until he found its counterpart—the central portion of the bonds of the Central. Pacific railroad. Armed with this information, which was essential to the securing of a definite and specific warrant, Drummond raided the house on Lexington avenue and Martin's room at the St. James' hotel. There, in addition to dies, senis and tracing paper, he found fifty-seven counter-felt $1,000 Central Pacifis bonds, all of which were so perfectly executed that one of the officers of the company said he would not have had the least hesitation of cashing the coupons. Brockway had slipped up on only one detail, the choice of a printer to pull the proofs, but this slip cost him five years in the penitentiary!

As long as he could look buck into his life the question, who is this person they call Alan Conrad, and what am I to the man who writes from Chicago, had been the paramount enigma of exist-ence for him. Since he was now twenty-three, as nearly as he had been able to approximate it, and as distinct recollection of isolated, extraordinary events went back to the time when he was five, it was quite eighteen years since he had first noticed the question charge: "So this is little Alan Con-rad. The KOHLER Automatic operates without storage batteries

You can now produce your own electricity without the trouble and expense of maintaining a large bank of glass-cell storage batteries—with the Kohler Automatic.

The dependable Kohler Automatic plant produces standard 110 volt electricity for power and light without any storage batteries, except a small, automobile-type, used for starting the engine.

With the Kohler Automatic you can have ample electricity for furnishing cheerful electric light, operating a running water system and for using standard household and power electric appliances.

Simply the turn of any button on the circuit starts the Kohler Automatic producing electricity. Send for illustrated literature. Come in and see the plant in operation.
